Contents

Acknowledgments v
About This Book xi

1.0 Unification of the Unicode Standard and ISO 10646 1
1.1 Structure of the 10646 Draft International Standard 1
1.2 Relationship Between the Unicode Standard and ISO 10646 3
The Unicode Standard as a Subclass of ISO 10646 3
Character Names 4
Character Functional Specifications 4
1.3 Specific Changes to Align Code Positions and Repertoire 4
Block Changes 5
Characters Removed from the Unicode Standard 6
Semantics of FEFF and ZERO WIDTH NO-BREAK SPACE 7
Further Semantics of FEFF 7
Additional Character Code Assignments 8

2.0 Unification of the Han Characters 11
2.1 Han Character Encoding Standards 11
2.2 Background: Unicode Han and the CJK/JRG 11
2.3 Principles Underlying the Unified Han Character Set 13
Source Character Sets 13
Ordering 14
The Three-Dimensional Conceptual Model 15
2.4 Unification Concepts 16
Source Set Separation 16
Cognate Characters 16
Two-Level Classification of Characters 16
Rules: Application and Examples 16
2.5 Compatibility with Existing Standards 19
Sorting Han Characters 21
Character Glyphs 21

3.0 Han Ideographic Characters 23
3.1 Representative Glyphs Within the Charts 23
3.2 Radical-Stroke Charts 109

3.3 Multi-Glyph Charts 161
3.4 The Cross-Reference Charts 169

Appendix A: Character Shaping Behavior 387
Appendix B: Two-Part Characters 415
Appendix C: Revised Microsoft Windows Mapping Tables 417
Appendix D: Corrections to Volume 1 427
Appendix E: Table of Contents to Volume 1 433
Appendix F: Mapping Tables to Asian Standards 437
References 439
General Index 441