Executive Summary

The 2018 Attorney General's Electronic Interceptions Report is issued in compliance with Penal Code section 629.62, and can be referenced on the Attorney General's website at: <http://oag.ca.gov>. Each county was directed to provide the mandatory information, and the information contained in the report reflects these submissions.

Electronic intercepts are essential in helping law enforcement battle against criminal elements. Criminal entities, including drug trafficking organizations (DTO's), criminal street gangs, and dangerous individuals, frequently rely on telecommunications to advance their criminal enterprises. As such, court-authorized electronic intercepts are essential in identifying, disrupting, and preventing crimes that include drug trafficking, murders, and even human trafficking. Electronic intercepts have even been used to uncover criminal conspiracies to commit murder and have led to the seizure of vast amounts of narcotics and firearms, effectively removing them from our communities. Some electronic intercepts have even rescued victims from human trafficking networks.

This report contains electronic interception data and details of how the use of electronic intercepts has enabled local, state, and federal law enforcement agencies to effectively combat crime at various levels. From disrupting large-scale narcotics operations to preventing murders, these examples underscore the importance of continuing to utilize electronic intercepts:

- In 2018, Los Angeles County used electronic intercepts to seize over 165 kilograms of methamphetamine, 193 kilograms of cocaine, 33 kilograms of heroin, and over $3.42 million in narcotics proceeds.
- Santa Clara County (2018-SCL-4) used electronic intercepts in a joint investigation to seize nearly 45 kilograms of methamphetamine, 9,000 fentanyl pills, several kilograms of cocaine, five firearms, and thousands of dollars in assets.
- Stanislaus County (2018-STA-10) used electronic intercepts to locate the weapon used in the murder of a police officer, resulting in the arrest of the primary suspect.
- Fresno County (2018-FR-3) used electronic intercepts to prevent attempted murders by intercepting the suspects before they could locate their targets. The intercepts also allowed law enforcement to intercept vehicles transporting shipments of marijuana to Mendota.

Though the report is divided into separate tables, the tables should be read in conjunction with one another to evaluate the impact intercepts have on public safety. Tables 1, 2, and 3 reflect the statistics of arrest, conviction, nature of intercept orders, and post-intercept court activity. Table 4 contains a description of an optional commentary for each intercept. Table 5 represents compliance with the inventory notice requirement given to those who were subjected to intercepts.

Table 6 shows the cost of each intercept. Table 7 lists counties with no intercepts to report. Table 8 provides supplemental information for intercepts approved prior to 2016 but were completed in 2017. Finally, Table 9 lists electronic intercept orders that were never used.

|                        | 2018-VE-4 | 250  | 11,280                                  | 2   | 98                       | The interceptions were vital in building a prosecutable case against the target subjects who were transporting controlled substances into Ventura County. The interceptions led directly to the seizure of a controlled substance that would have been sold to residents of Ventura County.  |
|                        | 2018-VE-5 | 150  | 6,633                                   | 25  | 75                       | This wiretap (and its later related wiretaps 2018-VE-06 and 2018-VE-09) allowed law enforcement to dismantle a portion of a drug trafficking organization responsible for distributing heroin, cocaine, methamphetamine and opiate pills. The investigation resulted in the seizure of approximately 109 pounds of methamphetamine, 52 pounds of cocaine, and several hundred Oxycodone pills, thus preventing the illegal distribution of these controlled substances on the streets of Ventura County. |

In total, approximately 11 pounds of heroin was seized along with approximately $40,000 from heroin sales.  |
|                        | 2018-VE-8 | 1,851  | 28,217                                  | 3   | 97                       | This wiretap investigation was vital in building a prosecutable case against a number of gang members who were part of a burglary crew rampaging across Southern California. It not only allowed for prosecution of local residential burglaries, but helped neighboring jurisdictions solve a number of residential burglary cases as well.   |

| Ventura (cont'd)       | 2018-VE-10 | 256  | 53,630                                  | 5   | 95                       | A local gang member housed in prison was running a drug trafficking ring using a contraband cell phone and fellow gang members still out on the street. The wiretap allowed investigators to find where they stashed drugs, how they funneled drug proceeds back up the chain, and many of their distribution branches all over the county and into neighboring counties. These wiretaps (2018-10 and 2018-11) were instrumental in building prosecutable cases against a core group of local gang members, and in severing the incarcerated gang member's links, and ability, to commit more crime from behind bars. |
