

To Whom It May Concern:

I recently learned of a proposal to substantially increase copyright registration fees. In my opinion, such an increase would unfairly penalize creators, and greatly deter the registration of images. In my case, and no doubt many of my colleagues, such an increase would create tremendous additional financial hardships at a time when we are already struggling. I strongly object to any increase in fees, and hope my views will be taken into consideration.

Sincerely,

Mark Strickland