RE: Sponsored Community Support - Industry Pre-reservation Service
ATTACHMENTS CONTAIN CONFIDENTIAL & PROPRIETARY INFORMATION

Dear Dr. Cerf and Members of the Board:

As we have reported previously, ICM Registry launched an Industry Pre-reservation Service in June of last year, and offered to accept reservations from webmasters (or their authorized agents) operating corresponding adult sites on other ICANN-recognized top-level domain registered before 1 May 2006. ICM did not advertise or market this service, but merely made it available on the registry website.

Pre-Reservations Evidence Strong Interest in .XXX

As indicated, in a little over six months, ICM received more than 75,000 pre-reservations - more than double the best-case business projections included in our application. Moreover, this is just the tip of the iceberg, as the requests to date capture only a small fraction of strings held by webmasters who have expressed support for and an intention to register in .XXX.

The Pre-Reservations Are Not Speculative

Over 71,000 of the more than 75,000 requests are for unique strings. The limited duplication is consistent with actual registration patterns. You would expect some duplication, because different registrants hold the same string in different TLDs (e.g., different registrants hold the string “sex” in the .com, .net, .org, .biz, and .us TLDs). But if speculators were submitting pre-reservations, we would expect to see a far higher percentage of duplication, especially for popular strings.

The Pre-Reservations Are Not Defensive

It appears that less than 0.1% of the pre-reservations were submitted by webmasters who have expressed opposition to .xxx.

The bottom line is that no sTLD applicant has demonstrated a comparable level of support prior to - or even during - launch. It is outrageous to suggest that ICM has failed to demonstrate the support of its sponsored community for .XXX.

We have attached, for your confidential review, a list of webmasters and/or their designated representatives who submitted pre-reservation requests to date. The list includes the name, company, email address, and IP address of the applicant. Second, we have provided Alexa results for a random selection of about 2,000 existing sites that correspond to pre-reserved .XXX strings. Both documents contain sensitive personal information about identifiable individuals as well as proprietary business information, and we therefore request that ICANN afford them confidential treatment.

We have also provided a redacted copy of both documents, as well as a 493-page truncated listing of the requested strings. These documents may be posted.

This data is credible evidence of strong community support for .XXX. This evidence far outweighs the postings of a small percentage of adult webmasters, who may or may not be identified in a meaningful way, whose email addresses are masked, and who, as ICM has repeatedly demonstrated, have manipulated the public forum to overstate their numbers.

There is no justification for dismissing this evidence of support because the personal information of supporters cannot be published on the Internet. The adult industry is traditionally and particularly sensitive about privacy. The Free Speech Coalition, to be sure, does not disclose its membership list, even in connection with lawsuits filed on their behalf. For example, in litigation regarding Justice Department regulations promulgated under 18 U.S.C. § 2257, the FSC sought - and received - an order appointing a special master to review its secret membership list. According to trade press, “Since the Coalition refuses to provide the government with a list of its members, the way the Justice Department will determine if some entity is eligible for inspection is by inquiring of a “Special Master” to be appointed by the Court, to whom FSC will give a copy of its membership list solely for the purpose of answering such inquiries.”¹

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in blue ink, appearing to read 'Stuart Lawley', with a small dot at the end.

Stuart Lawley
