Meetup Included in Crain's Best Places to Work in NYC 2023 List The platform known for bringing people together is recognized for its strong female leadership and employee perks

NEW YORK, NY/September 28, 2023—Meetup, the leading platform that connects people over shared interests at events, has been named as one of the 100 best places to work in New York City for 2023 by Crain's New York Business. This honor was earned due to Meetup's majority representation of female executives as well as its strong culture of community and employee recognition. Meetup team members are eligible for more than 50 benefits and perks, including competitive retirement benefits, professional development opportunities, and a monthly wellness stipend among others.

The celebrated platform launched in 2002 and has more than 60 million members globally, all managed by an extremely talented team of 90+ employees full time employees and a number of contractors all over the world that support the overall operations.

"We are proud to be included among the 100 best places to work," said Meetup CEO David Siegel. "Meetup's mission of bringing people together over shared interests would not be possible without a people-focused culture internally. This recognition by Crain's is validation of our commitment to putting people first."

Crain's, in partnership with Best Companies Group, an independent research firm, to find the top 100 employers in New York City that continue to keep their workers satisfied. The rankings are divided into small (1–50 city employees), midsize (51–100), and large (more than 100) companies. They are based on extensive employee surveys and audits of benefits, human resources, policies, and perks.

In March 2023, Meetup was named one of the 50 best places to work in New York City for 2023 by BuiltIn.
