

Appendix I – Data Transfer Package Example

The following XML documents provide a simple example of the contents of a data transfer package. In this example, we assume the data transfer package is the file “R20090914000.zip”, which contains two files:

manifest.xml: The data transfer package manifest. The manifest contains a description of the data transfer package and references a single data transfer file.

R20090914001: A data transfer file containing the records themselves. This example contains two records (excluding record details) and one instruction.
