2. if the counter-motion would result in a resolution of the Shareholders' Meeting that would be unlawful or in breach of the articles of incorporation;
3. if the reasons make manifestly false or misleading statements regarding essential aspects, or if they are insulting;
4. if a counter-motion made by the shareholder based on the same facts and circumstances has already been made accessible pursuant to §125 for a Shareholders' Meeting of the company;

5. if the same counter-motion of the shareholder, citing essentially the same reasons, has been made accessible pursuant to §125 in the past five years to at least two Shareholders' Meetings of the company, and if less than one twentieth of the share capital represented voted for this counter-motion at the Shareholders' Meeting;
6. if the shareholder indicates that he will not attend the Shareholders' Meeting and will not have a proxy represent him; or

3) Regarding the right to request information pursuant to §131 (1) AktG

§131 Shareholder's right to request information (extract)

"(1) The Board of Management is to inform each shareholder at the Shareholders' Meeting, upon a corresponding request being made, concerning matters pertaining to the company insofar as this is required in order to appropriately adjudge the item of business set out in the agenda. The obligation to provide information shall also extend to include the legal and business relations of the company with an affiliated enterprise. Where a company avails itself of the eased requirements pursuant to §266 (1) sentence 3, §276, or §288 of the Commercial Code (Handelsgesetzbuch – HGB), then each shareholder may request that, at the Shareholders' Meeting deliberating on the annual accounts, the annual accounts be made available to him in the form that they would have without these eased requirements. The obligation of the Board of Management of a parent company (§290 (1) and (2) of the Commercial Code (HGB)) to provide information at the Shareholders' Meeting to which the consolidated financial statements and the consolidated management report are submitted shall also extend to cover the situation of the group and the enterprises included in the consolidated financial statements.

[...]

(2) The information provided shall comply with the principles of conscientious and accurate accountability. The articles of incorporation or the rules of procedure pursuant to §129 may authorize the chairperson of the meeting to impose reasonable time limits on the shareholder's right to ask questions and to speak, and may also allow him to make further determinations concerning the details in this regard.

(3) The Board of Management may refuse a request for information

1. inasmuch as the provision of the information, when adjudged applying prudent business judgment, is suited to cause a greater than insignificant disadvantage to the company or an affiliated enterprise;
2. inasmuch as it refers to carrying values for tax purposes or the amount of individual taxes;
3. regarding the difference between the value at which objects were stated in the annual balance sheet and a higher value of such objects, unless the Shareholders' Meeting approves and establishes the annual accounts;
4. regarding the accounting and valuation methods insofar as it suffices to cite these methods in the notes in order to accurately represent the company's assets, financial position, and revenue situation in keeping with its actual circumstances in the meaning of §264 (2) of the Commercial Code (HGB); this shall not apply if the Shareholders' Meeting approves and establishes the annual accounts;
5. inasmuch as the Board of Management would be liable to punishment under law were it to provide the information;
6. inasmuch as, in the case of a credit institution or financial services provider or a securities firm, no information need be provided regarding the accounting and valuation methods applied, nor regarding the netting performed in the annual accounts, management report, consolidated financial statements, or consolidated management report;
7. inasmuch as such information is continuously accessible on the company's website for at least seven days prior to commencement of the Shareholders' Meeting, and also in its course.

Any refusal to provide information for other than the grounds set out above is not permissible.

(4) If information has been provided outside a Shareholders' Meeting to a shareholder by reason of its status as a shareholder, such information shall upon request be provided to any other shareholder at the Shareholders' Meeting, even if such information is not necessary to permit a proper evaluation of an item on the agenda. The Board of Management may not refuse to provide the information in accordance with (3) sentence 1, nos. 1 to 4. [...] Sentences 1 to 3 shall not apply if a subsidiary company (§290 (1) and (2) of the Commercial Code (HGB)), a joint venture (§310 (1) of the Commercial Code (HGB)) or an associated enterprise (§311 (1) of the Commercial Code (HGB)) issues the information to a parent company (§290 (1) and (2) of the Commercial Code (HGB)) for purposes of including the company in the consolidated financial statements of the parent company and the information is required for this purpose.

(5) Where a shareholder's request for information is refused, he may insist that his question and the grounds for refusal to provide the information be included in the minutes of the meeting.[...]"
