DEPARTMENT FOR GENERAL ASSEMBLY AND CONFERENCE MANAGEMENT

PRO/NV/Update Email information/2022

The Protocol and Liaison Service of the Department for General Assembly and Conference Management (DGACM) of the United Nations presents its compliments to the Permanent Missions to the United Nations and has the honour to bring to their attention the following:

Effective 1 January 2023, the National Holiday messages from the Secretary-General to the Member States will no longer be sent as cables to the capitals, but will instead only be sent by email to the Permanent Missions. It will then be the responsibility of the Permanent Missions to transmit the messages to the recipients in their respective capitals. To this end, the Protocol and Liaison Service kindly requests all Permanent Missions in New York to communicate an up-to-date email address that would be used for the purpose of sending out the National Holiday messages. Please note that this email address can be different from the general-purpose email address that is published in the Blue Book, and that this email address will not be published in the Blue Book or any other document.

In the event that the Permanent Missions do not provide an up-to-date email address, then the email address listed in the Blue Book will be used for this purpose. Please also note that it is the responsibility of the Permanent Missions to inform the Protocol and Liaison Service in a timely fashion about any changes to that email address.

The Protocol and Liaison Service of the Department for General Assembly and Conference Management (DGACM) of the United Nations avails itself of this opportunity to renew to the Permanent Missions to the United Nations the assurances of its highest consideration.
